cher Michel,

More information of Mac WHITE. I had a professional researcher check the Scottish civil registration records, and I enclose her report sheet.

You see that Mac was the son of a teacher, and his wife the daughter of a doctor.

As you see, they married just two weeks prior to that foggy night that he circled your town. And three months to the day of their marriage, Mary was widowed.

A sad tale.

There seems to be no trace of a child of their marriage. But the researcher is going to look for brothers and sisters - if any - of Matthew and Mary, so perhaps we may yet trace his family.

No news of FORDHAM, but I have done no work on this.

Otherwise, we are all well, and the boys growing true and strong by the day. In my family history of De Pau, I have got back to a Pierre De Pauw, in Melbourne in 1857. Place of origin given as Lisle.

The only Lisle I can find in my motoring atlas is just north east of Toulouse.

Best wishes from Sue and I

Dave

of a doctor

As you see, they married just two weeks before the last leggy night that he died your town. And three months to the day of their marriage, Mary was widowed.

A sad tale.

There seems to be no trace of a child of their marriage. But the researcher is going to look for brothers and sisters - if any of Matthew and Mary, so perhaps we may yet trace his family.

No news of FORDHAM, but I have done no work on this.

Otherwise, we are all well, and the boys growing fine and strong by the day. In my family history of the past, I have got back to a Pierre de Paris in 1851. Place of origin given as Lisle.

The only Lisle I can find in my records is in the last name of Lisle.

Best wishes from the family
